Combined Meeting

Friday, March 30, 2012

Burgundy Basin

1361 Marsh Road, Pittsford, NY

“Dental Product Solutions for Super Clinical Success”

Presented By

Joseph Blaes, D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

REGISTRATION 7:30 am • LUNCH 12:00 pm • LECTURE 8:30 am – 4:30 pm

Joseph Blaes, D.D.S., F.A.C.D., maintains a practice that utilizes design, management and computerization concepts rarely seen in today’s dental practices. He is a well-known author and speaker who lectures extensively throughout the country. He is the editor of Dental Economics and has created the “Pearls for Your Practice” column that has become a great resource for new ideas in dentistry.

Clinical procedures from start to finish are highlighted using the best products, materials and techniques that enable the dentist and clinical assistants to produce dentistry in the least amount of time at a low level of stress. This course will demonstrate many ways that clinical dentistry can be enhanced, upgraded, simplified, done quicker and made more fun for the entire dental team. This course is designed to cut through the confusion of all the new products that are constantly being introduced. You will go home with a “Cookbook of Pearls” that can be immediately implemented upon your return to the office. This course will enable the dental team to significantly reduce the time required to produce high quality dentistry.

The participant will be able to:

- Educate the patients about cosmetic dentistry
- Evaluate packable composites, the best uses of flowable composites and new “universal” composites
- Minimize composite sensitivity through the use of a revolutionary new anesthetic system
- Achieve a perfect impression every time while using half the material
- Polish porcelain without reglazing and review new product information
